

Wieden + Kennedy

A market-leading advertising agency, with strong characters and strong ideas, W + K wanted a stunning and inspirational workplace that reflected and stimulated both their passion and their sense of fun. Working closely with the W+K team and concept design partners, Jump Studios, our job was to deliver – developing the concepts, producing working drawings, dealing with the technical challenges – making the vision a reality.

This was a challenging project – involving specialist materials and finishes, numerous items of bespoke joinery and significant structural work. The result – a truly unique working environment for a truly unique organisation, and one that meets practical and regulatory requirements while providing a platform for continued success.
